MODULAR DRY WELL

hold warm food without water

TESTIMONIAL

“I will tell you that the new dry well has performed better than we had ever expected. I have asked all of my staff that use it and they are extremely happy with it. It took some getting used to at first. We are primarily using it for soups and breads and fried items. The first time we used for soups we had to turn it down because the soups started to boil! Plenty of heat. So now we are running them at much lower temperature and we are really liking how even and steady the heat is. The dinner rolls and fried items hold very well. They do not dry out and do not get soggy either. We are really enjoying the new unit. I will be considering them for my next kitchen remodel. Much simpler because there are no plumbing or drainage issues to deal with. Could save funds for some other part of the next big project.

Thank you again for letting us test the new unit.”
